FORCED TO PAY HEAVY PRICE FOR TREACHERY

Long Cherished Ambition of the Kaiser to Secure the Mastery of the Seas, and the Futile Means he Adopted to Accomplish His Worthy Object is now Interesting History

A battle was in progress between Britain and Germany, long before the present war was declared, a battle of wits. One victory was scored in London ten years ago, the results of which are now being seen.

When, with the advent of Lord Fisher to the Admiralty, Great Britain decided on the construction of her first dreadnought, the news caused

"At the time of the Crusades it was no unusual thing for a knight to insure his life against capture, and some might be demanded for their release. Those, however, who were too poor to insure their lives, had no other recourse. In the event of capture, their captors were perforce obliged to release them, for the ransom money was paid by the church, in exchange for the reception of 'God's peace'."

By the end of the sixteenth century insurance companies had been instituted all over the country, vessels

"It is also interesting to reflect that the first marine insurance policy in England despite the fact that the original contract was made in 1565, was issued on the continent, and naturally was not a marine insurance policy. The policy was discharged upon the completion of the voyage, and the first marine insurance policy was made in the British colony, and progress had been made in the development of marine insurance contracts in the United States by the year 1666 (dates back to 1615), and was used in the United States in the 18th century."

GOOD REASON FOR HIS EFFERISM

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel complaint and is thus cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially in this case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by all dealers.

COSTLY TREATMENT.

"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. H. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. "I went to a St. Louis hospital, also to a hospital in New Orleans, but no cure was effected. On returning home I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets, and worked right along. I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers.

Bellevue, Alta., Fri., August 6, 1915

We have to thank the Royal North West Mounted Police Detachment at Bellevue for asking us to discontinue sending our paper, which they have been receiving gratuitously for—God knows how long.

In our issue of July 23 appeared an article headed "Is It Justice?" referring to certain actions of police authorities in the Dominion which might possibly apply to cases of local origin.

The cap has evidently fit someone, for since then the local police, as well as their senior officers, have become very much interested.

The enquiry we find that a rule of local origin very much resembles that referred to in our issue of the 23rd ult. This case originated in the Bellevue Addition branch of the Town of Blairmore, and here the information gathered from an eyewitness who is prepared to testify to the truth of his statements.

The evening of election day a number of Belgian and French people gathered at the home of a Belgian family where for four hours of conversation and merriment were to be held. For the entertainment of the party a quantity of liquid refreshments was provided. The party consisted of about twenty men and women. The beer kegs were set up in the garden and were surrounded by the merry party who occasionally drank to the health of their sovereign head, the land of liberty in which they had cast their lots, or their lost and hostess, following the old European custom.

During the evening this open-air programme consisted of speeches and patriotic songs in their foreign language. The singing could be heard over the hill away, but even immediate neighbors claim any annoyance from the politicians.

Later in the evening the party was interrupted by a boy of about sixteen years whose presence was imposed upon the pleasant gathering apparently for no other purpose but to create a disturbance. Naturally enough, members of the party began to speak to the young individual but in encouraging him to their property or otherwise interfering with the doings of invited guests.

The boy was approached by one of the party who in plain English asked him what business he had around there and advised him to get out, and later in sympathy with him escorted him towards the exit. Prior to this, however, a member of the mounted police force also entered the grounds and accused a member of the party while they were enjoying the rendition of national patriotic songs by a lady guest. The constable asked what all the disturbance was about, where they got the beer, if it was paid for, etc., to which a Belgian lady in her English gown replied: "We no make disturbance." Almost immediately afterwards two men of the local English gentry appeared.

Constance Lewis claims to have been kicked or otherwise ill-treated by a member of the party.

The individuals were placed in the order for the night and two were afterwards brought before the inspector in charge at Blairmore and fined heavily for an alleged offence.

Now, where is the individual with any common sense who would say that the police were justified in interfering with this open-air party, which created no more disturbance than that caused by the Salvation Army or any war-baiter on the streets of the town. In this case there was no disturbance other than a merry chat and the rehearsal of old country patriotic songs, and that on private property. Neither of the police could prove that the programme included anything objectionable, except it may be the linguistic phenomenon of the sound of the foreign language, and where there is a law in the universe to prevent a human being from speaking in his own tongue.

A disturbance would not have occurred had the police and the boy of sixteen years not provoked the members of the party, and naturally the party was excited in becoming indignant and raising this uncalculated interference.

Whether or not the boy was engaged by the police he was not engaged by us but we have a right to our own contentions and feel that the boy in this particular case was fortunate in getting away safely. He not only engaged the grounds and made matters disagreeable for the party there, but he also entered the house, from where he was escorted to safety outside the fence and advised by a friend to go home. He was afterwards found to remark that he "would like to find Gales to get with him," and on being challenged by Gales, the latter was told by the police to go home.

The new show factory does not hide either Turtle Mountain nor Goat Mountain from view.

Mr. Green, boiler inspection inspector, was in town this week inspecting the boilers at the local plant.

Judge Jackson, of Lethbridge, spent Tuesday and Wednesday a guest at the Rocky Mountains Sanatorium.

Rev. W. T. Young returned Saturday from Pincher Creek, where he spent the week in attendance at the summer school.

The public are certainly indebted over the above affair, and we trust that the department of the Attorney General will see to it that the matter is pushed to the bottom and that the rights of our people are protected.

The article in question has been brought to the notice of the attorney general, who referred the matter to the superintendent of this division for an explanation from his subordinate officers. The local officers have approached on, requesting that we apologise for the statements made in our issue of July 23rd. The above is our apology.

P.S. Let the police waive all technicalities and bring the case before Judge McNeill on September 1st by way of appeal, and if the learned judge upholds the conviction we will then gladly apologise and pay all costs of appeal. The defence will then put in their side of the story, which they refrained from doing at the summary trial on advice from counsel.

A Bulletin on Swine Raising

The second edition of bulletin No. 17 of the Federal live stock branch, entitled Swine Husbandry in Canada, has been issued, and may be had on application to the Publications branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The interest in swine raising stimulated, I doubt by the high values of pork products, made such a demand for information on this subject that the first edition, printed last year, was quickly exhausted. This edition brings up to date statistics with respect to pig-breeding and the trade in hog products. It shows that the total exports for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1915, amounted to 100,485,519 pounds as against 75,414,000 pounds the previous year. This bulletin covers the whole field of swine raising giving the results of official experiments as well as the practices of successful farmer swine raisers.

An interesting section describes the system to feeding hogs in Denmark where combinations of food are prepared according to their food units in which one pound of grain—wheat, barley, peas, corn, etc.—constitute one food unit which is equal to 8 lbs. mangel, 4 lbs. beet pulp, 5 lbs. alfalfa, 6 lbs. linseed milk, 12 lbs. hay, etc. It shows that the diet is varied in definite ways for pigs of different ages.

The pulpit of the Methodist church will be occupied on Sunday night next by the Rev. A. H. Benson, of Knox Presbyterian church, Lethbridge. Rev. Benson is a good speaker and should be greeted by a large audience.

Miss Mary Simpson, eldest daughter of William Simpson, is expected home from Calgary shortly and will become the wife of H. Dexter McKay, former principal of the Frank public school. Mr. McKay is now in charge of the school at Gleichen.

A grand dance will be held in the Rocky Mountains Sanatorium hotel on the night of Friday August the 13th, for which a hundred invitations have been issued. This affair should be well attended, coming as it does with the tennis tournament.

A farewell social was held in the Methodist church on Tuesday evening by the congregation on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, who left last night for the east to reside. The choir assembled at the station, where they sang "God be with you till we meet again."

A meeting of the provincial board of examiners was held at the Rocky Mountains Sanatorium hotel on Wednesday and Thursday.

The following gentlemen were present: John T. Sterling, chief inspector of mines; Francis Aspinall, assistant chief; W. Shaw, local inspector; Robert Livingstone, of Lethbridge; W. Davidson, of Coleman; Andrew Goodwin of Bellevue, and Fred Alliot, of Frank.

Since adopting the American plan the Rocky Mountains Sanatorium appears to be more popular as a retreat than ever before. Guests speak in the highest terms of the present service and management, and judging from inquiries coming in from all quarters this house is likely to be busy for the balance of the summer. Some rumor has been circulating a report as far wide as possible that the doors of the Rocky Mountains Sanatorium hotel had been closed for want of business, and we are pleased to be able to report to the travelling public that this rumor is without the slightest foundation. During the past week over one hundred guests have registered here.

Mrs. R. Dickens and children arrived back from Calgary last week end.

BORN—On Tuesday morning, to Mr. and Mrs. A. Franklin, a daughter.

News, John T. Sterling and F. Aspinall registered at the Sanatorium this week.

Our Status

When first started on the job, our clothes were clean and new.

We didn't know exactly what we were to do.

We signed on to be soldiers, to serve our land and king.

We cared not what the future held, our hats were in the ring.

Some said we were cavalry, some said riflemen.

We didn't know, for all of us were crossing gravel then.

About our title, what it is, we do not know just yet.

We know that we are veterans now, still on the job, you bet.

We've had a crack at every drill that soldiers ever done.

And some of it was pretty fierce, and some of it was fun.

We've rode those prairie lurches in almost every way.

But what our status is as yet, we honestly can't say.

We thought that we were riflemen, for the Colonel told us so.

Then the General told us different, and he's supposed to know.

Sometimes we think they're kidding and we'll never go to war.

Sometimes we wonder what the hell we're expected for.

And then the doctors said the breaks all had a touch of glaucoma.

And we should have to go about to France or into Flanders.

Then there was consternation, and we were in the dumps.

Until we all discovered that it was a case of mumps.

And then the Empire Dancers gave us a nice new flag.

And we all stood around and 'dummed, the Colonel cleared the rag.

While the mercury stood at ninety and something in the shade.

They called it in the Orders "Greenish" Brand.

After the speech was over, what about we could not wait.

Our eyes were gazing towards the list, our thoughts were all of love.

That's the time our feelings got a little hurt.

We had to shed our tunics, and oh, you wouldn't!

END

About our change are very old and we're getting very tough.

But we can take our medicine, and never get up rough.

We are cavalry or infantry, our stock is over par.

We'll stick until the finish, but WE WANT TO GO TO WAR.
